Time in the sunshine is also related to improved mood and reduced stress levels for the whole family. Water play also provide children with so many opportunities to explore their senses and experience different sensory.

Exposure to bright light might boost mental performance by these indirect routes. We've also seen that bright light enhances mood, which could be an important motivator at school.

The main objective of celebrating this day is to create awareness about the earth and to cherish the greenery we are blessed with, as this is one of the important social responsibility which every individual should be aware about. Teachers' Day is celebrated on September 5 to honour educators and recognise the effort that they put into shaping young individuals. Teachers' Day also marks the birth anniversary of Dr Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan.

It is not just a day to celebrate but to honour the teachers. A teacher plays an important role in the life of students. Teacher is the one who teaches the valuable lessons of life, who encourages you to achieve your goal and who makes you believe to do impossible things possible.

16. Grandparents Day (11 September)

The day honors the adorable bond between the grandparents and their grandchildren. After all, grandparents are the ones besides parents who love their grandchildren unconditionally.

Grandparents give unconditional love, kindness, patience, humour, comfort, lessons in life. A child needs grandparent to grow a little more securely into an unfamiliar world.”

17. Trekking

Everybody wants their child to grow independently and face everything positively. This can only happen after their skill development. So, trekking for school children is the foremost way of making children mentally and physically fit. Spending multiple hours on the trail, climbing around boulders, rock hopping and ascending hills gives your whole body a workout, improving your strength, agility and cardio fitness.

18. Non-Fire Cooking Activities

Fireless cooking not only teaches cooking to children but also teaches some valuable skills of life. This encourages children's creativity, thinking and problem solving skills. With this children improve their knowledge of basic skills like measuring, counting and following the instructions. Teaching cooking to youth is an opportunity to teach nutrition education.

19. Pre-Primary Activities

The starting point of schools nowadays is preschool activities. It is basically the first step of your child's success. Preschool is the phase when a child is exposed to the outside world for the first time in his life. That means, he is to leave the comfort and security of his parent's arms and face everything that's lying beyond them.

Preschool activities take care of physical and mental development too. By preparing a curriculum involving different kinds of physical activities, teachers try to support children in building a healthy and fit body. Children are required to play, run, dance, climb which keeps their body active and muscles strong. It also teaches learning in new and unfamiliar environment.
